

MARIAN Z. STERN
m.stern@projectsinphilanthropy.com

Marion Stern is currently teaching at Rutgers University in the American Studies Department and at the Heyman Center for Philanthropy and Fundraising at New York University.

Since 1998, Marion has also been working as a consultant for Not-for-Profits at Foundations and Corporations. A few of the clients that she has worked with include: NY Downtown Hospital, Jewish Community Foundation of MetroWest, Arthur Andersen & Co. S. C. Foundation, Citymeals-on-Wheels, Chemical Bank, Israel National Museum of Science, 92nd Street "Y", The GreenPoint Savings Bank, TV Food Network, We Care About New York, Healthcare Foundation of New Jersey and Mountainside Health Foundation.

Sterns focus in working with foundations and corporations has focused on developing a philanthropic policy for foundations and corporations; developing and providing a conception of charitable giving programs; strategic planning; policy evaluation; writing proposals and grants, developing boards and providing board training; fundraising (individual and corporate); meeting facilitation and focus groups; project management and coordination and execution of special events.

Stern has spent a significant amount of time in the corporate sector working with Chemical Bank as the Assistant Vice President for Community Programming. In her role at Chemical Bank she was responsible for managing a $10 million annual corporate contributions budget; hiring and supervising staff of 10; developing all bank wide policy and programs related to contributions and community outreach; staffing Corporate Contributions Committee comprised of senior management; , not-for-profit and government sectors; creation and management of corporate volunteer and technical assistance centers.

Currently she hold board positions with the following organizations Jewish Family Service of MetroWest, Senior Vice President and Co- Chair of Family Philanthropy Committee in addition to a member of the Grants Committee, New York Regional Association of Grantmakers, Arts Council of the Essex Area, Past Vice President Stern earned her BA in American Studies at Douglass College, Rutgers University and her Masters of Public Administration at Wagner School of Public Service, New York University.